INSPECTION UNDER BCA'S NEW NAME

"Perhaps it will be today!"

Early one morning, one of BCA's former janitors came and informed Elvie that his young grandson Sanchez (our former student) died in the night with an enlarged heart.

Sanchez had just taken the government PEPT placement exam a few days before, and the church prayed for him during our prayer meeting so that he would be well enough to take the test a few days later.

Elvie cried, remembering how the boy sat next to her in church during Wednesday night's mid-week worship, and later, after he took the test, Sanchez told, her it was easy, with just a few difficult questions.

She said, "That's great. You will pass because we prayed for you". And then, just three days later, he was gone. Her heart was very heavy when she heard of his death. She cried in her private 4am Morning Prayer time, as she prayed first for the family of Little Sanchez, and then for our upcoming government inspection.

Elvie kept telling Jesus, "It's all in your hands, God: our annual permit, our inspection, and our lives." She also prayed for God to bless the inspectors, and DepEd (Department of Education) officials both in the Division level and in the higher Regional level.

"Lord," she prayed, "Please, please, please grant us the new permit before classes begin on June 11!" Entrusting everything to the Lord, God assured her that He would bless and strengthen all of the church people, teachers, staff and parents as they continued to clean and prepare the school for the DepEd inspection.

"I don't really know when the inspection will be, Lord," she prayed. "They just told me last Saturday after the PEPT that they could inspect the school at any time. Dear Lord, please make it soon!"

Sure enough, the next morning, she checked and monitored all the rooms beginning from the third floor, on down to the ground floor. She asked Inday (the school nurse) to please clean Elvie's office first, since God had given Elvie a strong assurance deep down inside that the inspection would be that very day.

Inday brushed off the suggestion with a casual "Okay Madam, I will clean it later...after I finish sweeping the library." But Elvie had such a deep conviction from the Lord, in her prayer time, that that very day the inspector would be arriving, that she insisted. "Please, PLEASE do it RIGHT NOW!" just two hours later, right after lunch, the inspector was at the door!

The inspector began in Elvie's office and covered the entire campus, coming back to Elvie's office to grill the staff with dozens of questions. She had checked the Home Economics, Library, Science Lab, Music Room, Audio-Visual Room, Sports Room, Offices, & Teachers Lounge.

Then, she poured out her heart to the teachers, asking them each individually about the depth of their commitment to this very unique ministry: a free school for the very, very poor. She said, "The Barners have done their part, providing everything, but you teachers should now give your best in teaching."

She was impressed with all the renovations in the different rooms. "You are the only school in Davao," she complimented, "that has immediately complied with all of my recommendations."

"However," she warned, "I am only the recommending officer. The final approval must come from a higher level: The Regional Office. I will wait one more week for the results of the PEPT exam before sending in my report."

Elvie asked permission, and prayed with the DepEd official. Meanwhile, as I drove thousands of miles in Texas and Arkansas, I stopped at many churches to pray with pastors for the very same thing. Perhaps God kept Sanchez alive just long enough so that his fantastic grade would shine through for the remaining children at BCA!
